Alixe Pellerin, PGY3, Anesthesiology

Dr. Alixe Pellerin was born and raised in Saskatoon, SK. Alixe completed a Bachelor of Science in Microbiology and Immunology from the University of Saskatchewan in 2011 and went on to become a Registered Nurse in 2015. Before entering medical school, she worked as an emergency room nurse. Alixe completed medical school at the University of Saskatchewan and is now a PGY-3 at the University of Saskatchewan Anesthesiology residency program. Alixe is a co-founder of AirwayBreathingCoffee anesthesia infographics and Airway Breathing Conversation an anesthesia podcast. She is interested in medical education, simulation, and POCUS. Outside of the hospital Alixe enjoys walking her two Rottweilers, going to hot-yoga with her co-residents, spending time at the lake with her husband and baking!

Here are some of the reasons Alixe was chosen as Resident of the Month (As quoted from the nomination letter):

"Alixe is constantly finding innovate ways to engage the anesthesia community in Saskatoon and support our residency program. Last year she started an Instagram account for USask anesthesia that is constantly coming out with new content on program highlights, wellness activities, research initiatives, and much more."

"She is the co-host of an anesthesia podcast called 'Airway, Breathing, Conversation' that launched in Jan 2023 with the goal of providing individuals at all levels of clinical knowledge with anesthesiology related healthcare information.

"Alixe is an amazing co-resident and make the hospital a better place to work!"
